THE ostensible object of this institution is to place in the reach of individuals proper facilities for btaining a thorough and practical mercantile education. A young man can here obtain a more correct knowledge of general business matters in a few weeks than can be acquired in as many years in any one counting house.

The course of study embraces double-entry book keeping, and its adaptation to various departments of commerce and trade. Mercantile calculations taught according to the most approved methods .-Practical Penmanship, combining rapidity of execution with beauty of construction. Lectures upon mercantile law, upon various important mercantile subjects, beside many other points necessary for book-keeper or business man to understand. Time necessary for a student to complete the course varies from five to eight weeks. There being no vacation, applicants can enter at any time and attend both day and evening. Examinations are held at stated periods, and diplomas awarded to those who graduste. For terms, &c., write and have a circular forwarded by mail.

ERAD AND BE CONTINUE

Dr. C. M. Jackson: Dear Sir-For the past two years I have been severely afflicted with Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Bilious Diarrhoea, and Piles, gutfering in a great degree constantly, the pains and inconveniences attendant upon such diseases, without energy, being scarcely able to attend to any business. I lost a great deal of my fiesh, and used many kinds of medicine, with no apparent change, until commenced with your "Hoofand's German Bitters," they have entirely cured me. I have gained in weight over forty pounds since I commenced the use, and I am now entirely free from pain and ache of any kind, and feel like a new man. I unhesitat ingly recommend your Bitters to all invalids.

Yours, respectfully, JOHN R. CORY, No. 12 Lagrange Place W. H. Adams, pub. of the Argus, Weston, Mo., July 17, 1851, said: "I was last summer so very low and weak as not to be able to stand at the case longer than one hour at a time. I tried one bottle of your German Bitters, which entirely cured me. I have used two bottles. I sent two bottles 150 miles from here to a friend who had been sick for a long time; he has also been cured by them. I believe them to be superior to any medicine new in use."

E. B. Perkins, Marietta, Ohio, Feb 22, 1851 said: "Your Bitters are highly prized by these who have used them. In a case of Liver Complaint, of long standing, which had resisted the skill of several physicians, was entirely cured by the use of 5 F. Kesselmeir, Jeweller, Wooster, O., De 2d, 1851, said: "I embrace this opportunity of informing you of the great benefit I have derived from the use of Dr. Heofland's German Bitters. I have used them for Chills and Fever, and Disordered Stomach, and found relief in every case. They are the best remedy for Disordered Stomach I think in D. E. Sykes, Esq., Editor of the Courier. man Bitters for some time, for Dyspepsia, and have found so much relief from them, that I have made up my mind to give them a first-rate editorial en Holden, Kemp, & Co., Janesville, Wis. Sept. 1851, said: "Your German Bitters are deserved ly popular here, and among all the prepared medicines on our shelves, none have we sold which have given the satisfaction of Hoofland's German Bitters.

June 2d, 1852, they said : "We recommend them as in invaluable spring and summer medicine." W. M. Orr, Wooster, O., October 2d, 1852, said: "You ask me my opinion of the German Bitters. I have used them for Dyspepsia and Indigestion, and take pleasure in stating that I think they are the very best remedy extant for the above complaintsthey are decidedly in the advance of all the propra etory medicines of the day."

ADVANTAGES OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The ancient heathen acted on the idea that bodily exercise was the true foundation of all social and mental, as well as physical growth and development. They had no doubt that the mind could not, by any possibility, be in a healthy state, unless the body also was in a condition of perfect health. The same ideas were possessed by the ancient Jews; and hence, in the laws of these people, we find the most minute and careful hygienic enactments, side by side with those for the suppression and punishment of vice or immorality. Gymnastic exercises, and a regular habit, are found to be as old as the earliest records of the inhabitants of Greece; and as with the descendants of the Puritans, the church and the school-house are erected simultaneously with the huts of How to make a White Man a Negrothe early settlers, so were gymnasia built for the training of the youth of every considerable town in Greece. These gym nasia were always under the control of government, and the gymnasiarch had power to manage as he saw fit. The buildings were constructed with porches. These were used for conversation and oral instruction. Within the inclosure were covered apartments for exercise in the winter or stormy weather, and others not covered for milder seasons-walks for those not engaged in the games, and cold and hot baths. Nearly all the art and splendor of the city was gathered into these gymnasia, and immense sums of money were expended in their adornment. The gymnasiarch had the general supervision of the gymnasium, and could expel such teachers, sophists, and philosophers, whose teachings he considered injurious to the young, or prejudicial to of officers had for their duty, to inspire the youth with a love of morality; and another regulated the diet of the pupils, and acted as surgeons and physicians.

The education of the Greek youth was divided into three parts, grammar or a knowledge of the language by which he was to make his thoughts known; music which has already been defined; and gymnastics, or the exercise of every the former, occupied more time and atevery-day occurrence, to see the grayheaded sage and philosopher engaged with the lads in their sports, and the highest, either in church or state, deemed it no way derogatory to their duty to recreate in this manner their faculties of body and of mind.

In Ionia and some other States, the tual development-and each free of the were taught to sing, to dance, to shoot with the bow, to throw the javelin, to run, and every exercise befitting their sex or strength; and all this in the presence of the youth of the other sex, the citizens, magistrates, and kings; and they were always remarkable for their dignity of manners and purity of charactor. over men," she replied to "Undoubtedly, for we are the only . Among the Romans, similar attention was paid, for a time, to the strengthening and thorough development of all the human faculties, and it was the result of this alone which gave to Rome the proud title of "Mistress of the World;" but when effeminacy and sloth first attacked the females, and afterwards the male youth of that proud city, inevitable but great was the fall thereof. A similar lesson, but less marked, is taught by all nations that have risen from a state of savagism or barbarity. Their very condition obliges them to exercise their faculties; and by that exercise comes power, which raises them in the scale of humaniity. It is by the exercise alone, that man grows as an individual, or as a naat some years. It is true that we may continue to exist, and the experience of many among us proves the fact, even without the development or active exercise of any valuable taculty of mind or body; but we were not created simply to exist—to stay here until we die: but we were placed here by the Creator, to live, and to be active-to attain perfection by the development of our every faculty-to be noble, exalted souls. wedded to pure, strong, and healthy bodies; making the universe subject to our wills, and keeping complete control as well of our passions and appetites .-Scalpel.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

The West Alabamian, an Alabama paper, says that Dr. Leiburgh, after many years' close investigation into the nature and laws of color pertaining to the human family, has at length discovered, by a chemical analysis of various ingredients, a compound liquid which, by repeated applications, according to prescribed rules, will invariably, except in a few cases of chronic disease, in several days' time turn the fairest skin of the white race to the deepest color of the Congo African. The same liquid, by adding thereto two other ingredients, and making three more applications, will effectually "black and kink" the straightest red hair; thus, in ten days' time the fairest red-headed person may effectually be turned, so far as outward appearances indicate, into a jet black, kinkly-headed Guinea negro. The learned professor is a very humane philanthropist, and an the interests of the nation. Another class abolitionist, very much opposed to slavery in the abstract, and is quite sanguine in the belief that he will finally succeed in discovering some process by which the Ethiopian may be made to resemble the Caucassian. Many persons, no doubt, will disbelieve in the practicability of any permanent change in the human color being made, but we cannot tell what a day may bring forth. Very few at first gave the least credit to the most miracupower and faculty of the body; and the lous electric telegraph, yet the whole inlatter, as the basis of all advancement in telligent world was soon convinced of its reality by occular demonstration. To tention than all the others, and continued test the effect of this new discovery in during the entire lifetime. It was an the trans-colorization of the human species, the scientific professor has made several experiments on different persons. The first was on a newly married couple of white servants in his own employ, who agreed, for the sum of five hundred dollars, to let the doctor take his own course. He first applied the fluid to every part of these two persons for seven girls were secluded and brought up in days, at the end of which they were a sedentary habits; but in Sparta, and beautiful jet black. The Spartan girls hair, he had a skilled barber to cut the hair very short. In eighteen months after the woman had a fine daughter, black and kinky headed. These extraordinary and almost miraculous results so much excited the professor that he must needs try another experiment. Being desirous of securing a patent right for discoveries, and living in a thinly settled and almost unoccupied part of the Mississfppi bottom, he has, up to this time, succeeded in keeping secret-outside of his own, and an old bachelor's premises-the results of his very extraordinary experiments. Being one day on the bank of the river, where a snagged boat had put ashore a number of German emigrants, he engaged two Quakers, who were to be married as soon as they procured employment in the New World. Being acquainted with the German language, the doctor, on their way to his residence, told them some of his efforts to permanently change the natural appearance of persons. They laughed at what they called the doctor's wildness, arising, as they supposed, from living in such a thinly-settled country, and expressed their willingness, for a small sum, to let the professor experiment upon them as much as he pleased. The new comers, on arriving at the doctor's residence, were very much pleased with the plenty around tion. It is by the exercise and activity the premises, and in a short time were married.
